Transaction costs are a necessary cost in administering the financial product and impacts the financial product returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of financial product, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

The EAC is a standard industry measure which has been introduced to allow you to compare the charges you incur and their impact on the investment returns over specific periods. Please visit <http://www.ipmc.co.za/effectiveannual-cost> to address the EAC illustrator.

Portfolio manager's comment

The US dollar depreciated over 3% to the South African rand during the month of June. The sell off in the US dollar was owed to dovish comments by the Fed and positive developments in the US-China trade war at the G20 Summit. Global stocks performed well with the MSCI World and Emerging Market indices gaining over 6% for the month. Locally the ALSI gained 4,59% for the month with the resources sector gaining over 10%. The industrial and financial sectors had more modest returns of 3,76% and 1,29% respectively. Due to the ongoing concerns of global growth slowdown and low US interest rates, gold gained 8% for the month on safe-haven buying. With South African SOEs applying for additional funding to avoid going bankrupt, yields on government debt are expected to rise. This has been a huge concern for foreign investors and a significant contributor to outflows in the bond market.
